Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air Marks More Than Five Decades of Greenville Home Service

September 14, 2026

GREENVILLE, SC - September 14, 2026 -
Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air continues to serve Greenville homeowners with a service history that reaches back to 1969, marking more than five decades of family-oriented home comfort support in the region. The company, rooted in the Greenville community, has grown alongside the area it serves while maintaining a focus on dependable heating, cooling, and plumbing care for local households.

What began as a local operation more than fifty years ago has developed into a full-service provider covering air conditioning, heating, and a broad range of plumbing needs. Over the decades, the company has expanded its services to address the changing comfort requirements of Greenville homes, adapting to new technology and evolving expectations while keeping its focus on the community that has supported it since the beginning.

Today, Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air offers air conditioning installation, maintenance, and repair, along with heating installation and repair, heat pumps, and geothermal systems. The plumbing side of the business covers water heaters, drains, sewers, backflow plumbing, and water treatment. Additional home comfort services include ductwork, duct-free systems, indoor air quality solutions, crawlspace encapsulation, and attic insulation, reflecting the wide scope of support the company provides to area residents.

The company points to routine maintenance as a central part of its approach, emphasizing that regular care helps HVAC systems perform efficiently and last longer. That focus on ongoing service, rather than one-time transactions, reflects the continuity that has defined the business across generations of Greenville families.

"Serving Greenville since 1969 means a great deal to the people who work here," said Jay Mahaffey, owner of Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air. "The families that trusted this company decades ago are often the same families calling today, sometimes across two or three generations. That kind of continuity shapes how the work gets done and keeps the emphasis on doing the job right the first time."

The company operates with an emphasis on family ownership and community roots, values that it credits for its longevity in a competitive field. As Greenville has grown, the demand for reliable heating, cooling, and plumbing service has increased, and the company has positioned its long local presence as a foundation for the trust homeowners place in its work.

"Home comfort covers everything from a working air conditioner in the summer to clean indoor air and reliable plumbing year-round," Mahaffey added. "The goal has always been to give Greenville homeowners a local team they can count on, backed by a history that speaks for itself."

The company also provides financing options, service agreements, and around-the-clock emergency response for households facing urgent heating, cooling, or plumbing issues. These offerings extend the everyday support the company provides to the broader Greenville area.

Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air - Greenville, SC has served the region since 1969, providing heating, cooling, plumbing, and indoor air quality services to homeowners throughout the area. The company remains focused on dependable, family-oriented service and long-term relationships with the community it has served for more than fifty years.
